

Jonathan Bassett Designer

Since childhood, Jonathan has had a lifelong passion for Architecture. Since then, his interest in design has taken him all over the globe. While in school, Jonathan had the opportunity to spend five months studying Architecture and History abroad in Europe. Jonathan is especially interested in the detail and materiality aspects of design, as well as how architecture can be informed by structure, function, and the vernacular. How Architecture influences and interacts with the surrounding built-environment also intrigues him. Jonathan finds inspiration in all forms of design. Having recently graduated from school, he looks forward to continuing his education through collaboration and immersion into the Architecture profession.
